Dates to Remember

May 31 - June 4	Environment Week
June 2 - 4	Summer Camp for Year 4 - 6
June 12 - 14	Dragon Boat Festival (No School)
June 16 & 17	Transition Days
June 18	Zhongkao (No School)

Although we say “Earth Day is everyday”, Monday May 31 through Friday June 4 will specifically mark Environment Week 2021 at NBIS. Teachers, students and staff will be even more conscious of living green during this week as they think about ways to cut down on the overuse and waste of resources including plastic, paper, water and electricity. There will also be many activities and projects available for students to do at school and from home, including a recycled art project, an activity to make a poster using a recycled box (cereal, taobao delivery, etc.) and a TEDtalk style video contest open to Upper Primary and Secondary students to promote sustainability initiatives at the new campus. Friday June 4 will be designated as ‘Go Green Day’ and all students may wear green clothing to school in celebration of Environment Week. Thanks for your support as we all work together to save the Earth!

Calling all Upper Primary and Secondary students!

Environment week - Video competition

NBIS is on the move... to a new campus! We want to make sure this move is one that ensures a greener and more sustainable future for all.

Submit a video where you share your ideas on what we as the NBIS community can do to ensure our new campus is more environmentally friendly!

* Video should be between 3 - 5 minutes
* Individuals / groups welcome
* Due date 6 June
* Submit via email to nicole.smout@nbis.net.cn - include your name and class in the email

Nursery B: Sea Animals

The past month has been busy as usual. Following on from last month's program where we learned about sea animals, (the children love sea animals, with the class favorite being sharks), we have used this opportunity to extend their thinking about how to care for sea animals.

Sea Animal Role Play

Shape Cutting

Jelly Fish Craft

Drawing Sea Animal

There has been a lot of fun with indoor water play. The addition of some sea creature adjuncts and different shaped and sized containers has provided many different learning opportunities for different groups of children. Some of them have used the containers as a means of engaging in creative and sometimes quite dramatic play scenarios and dialogue between themselves, for example: "ice-cream for you, ok?" The same adjuncts have also provided teaching opportunities to explore literacy and numeracy concepts, for example: sorting and classifying according to size, color, shape or type, counting the fish, identifying which one is the smallest and which one is the biggest. Play like this also provides countless opportunities for the children to socialize, refine motor skills (pouring), to ask questions, to find out, to learn and to make sense of their world.

The children have fun with water play!

Shaving cream is an amazing, messy, sensory experience that uses senses of touch, sight, smell and sound. It is a textural wonderland that changes and reforms in children's hands. Adding color enables swirls and patterns to form and burying and hiding toys in the foam adds to the sense of discovery and play. Shaving cream encourages children to manipulate and mould materials, building their fine motor skills and coordination.

Year 2B: Art - Split and Reform - Cakes

In art we made an art project of splitting and reforming a cake. Children designed their cakes first, cut their cakes into pieces, and then reformed the cakes to be presented as a new piece of artwork. As you can see from the above artworks, children were very brave in using colours and imaginative when reforming the pieces. In the end, they wrote a caption at the back of their works to explain the name of the cake and what their cakes are made of.

Year 5B

5B have been studying graffiti artist Banksy and learning different styles of graffiti such as bubble style and wild style.

Primary Assembly

Diversity:

having different types of people in a group, such as people of different races, cultures and abilities.

The theme of our assembly this week was 'Diversity'. Our assembly began with a video performance by the street-dance troupe called 'Diversity'. All of the members of the group came from different age groups, cultural backgrounds and beliefs; each member unique. The group went on to become one of the most successful street dance troupes in the world, proof that: Diversity is important because differences make people and places strong and beautiful. We read the story of The Creature in the Cave, where a dragon develops an unlikely friendship with a human. A celebration of differences and similarities between two beings.

Being unique and different should be celebrated.

We can all celebrate diversity by:

Understanding that everyone is unique;

Recognising our differences;

Respecting people and their experiences which are different from our own.

We can celebrate diversity in our school and wider community by showing kindness and respect to all people.

Year 10: First Language English Class

The Year 10 English students have been preparing for their end-of-year exams. In their English exam, they may be asked to write a journal, article, interview, letter, report or speech. This week we have been focusing on how to write a persuasive speech. The students have been learning how to use imperatives, rhetorical questions, anecdotes and facts to support their points. Year 10 chose to write speeches about issues that they are passionate about in the school. The class then invited our Principal, Mr. Phil Billing, to hear their speeches.

Mr. Billing accepted the invitation and visited the Year 10 class to listen to speeches about:

- Limiting homework
- Making a homework timetable
- Having longer break times
- Spending more time outside
- School lunches
- School uniforms
- The colour of the new school

After spending a long time planning and practicing for their speech, the students delivered them with confidence and vigor. They were happy to have their voices heard within the school.
